Energy Board when it brought in its comparison between costs for Columbia down-stream power and that which might be generated on the Peace.

"I have no hesitation in telling you now," says Mr. Bennett, "that the decision of the government to take over the Peace River project was made before the report of the energy board was received."

What exactly does this mean? Does it mean that the government had decided to take over the Peace whether or not costs of that development were prohibitive? And if so, was it the job of the energy board to make Columbia stream power received by Canada look as expensive as possible in order to reach a favorable comparison with that from the Peace'

Is this why cost factors which would reduce the Columbia figure were studiously omitted from the eft out of cost calculations since they are items vitally affecting the rate at which downstream power could be priced in British Columbia.

Why, in fact, was the energy board instructed to make its com-parative survey when the govern-ment had already made up its mind? Further confusing the issue is the premier's statement that "cheap" Columbia power, delivered to Vancouver, would not be 3.77 mills, but 8.65 mills the first year, would drop to 4.34 mills by 1970 and increase to 7.80 mills by 1985.

This seems to be a calculation based on the questionable principles applied by the energy board in its table showing the Peace in its most favorable light—omission of factors which would end to the principle.

which would reduce the price.

Mr. Bennett's text does not document the detailed evidence on which he presents the new figures turned to Canada. He points to a rising rate by 1985.

One other point must be kept in mind. The initial costs, in the first year for Columbia downstream power, might be high provided they computed in complete isolation from the general picture. How much more expensive would Peace River power be under the same

The Agitation Is a British Phenomenon

the British government is in serious trouble at home. There has been civil disobedience round the seats of power and the seats of power a in Westminster and outside embassies, and there have been huge and angry demonstrations in Trafalgar Square.

More demonstrations and more disobedience are publicly planned. The police have taken almost military precautions. The most distinguished philosopher-mathematician in the country, along with a famous clergyman, two of Britain's best known playwrights, a poet and a scholar have been imprisoned. And there is a long queue of well-known names anxious to share their fate.

All the agitation, of course, is di-rected towards Banning the Bomb, or, to be more precise, towards persuading Under this scheme American the British to give up their own bomb, interests would have built regardless of what anyone else may do an aintained their storage dam. The strange thing about the agitation is that it exists nowhere else in an even faintly comparable form. It is a British phenomenon.

Noble Cranks

A much more serious problem cranky and crankiness has played a distinguished, even noble, role in British presented itself in recent months when Mr. Hammarskjold became history. Without English and Scottish cranks whom their contemporaries re-garded as tiresome and ill-mannered, the target of Communist invective, Mr. Khrushchev sought to oversuch major reforms as the abolition of throw the one-man secretariat systhrow the one-man secretariat sys-the slave trade, freedom for Ireland and tem and establish a three-man com-initee in its place.

Tory Troubles

By TOM GOULD

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S Conservatives are starting to issue a call for the return from Ottawa of Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton. The Tories on the West Coast have had their groubles for many years now. Their party has been short of ideas and policies; and starved for leadership. They put up with the unput up with successful le leadership of Deane Finlayson and his associates to the point where very little was left. When the party's new provincial Stuart Fleming, the MP for Revelstoke, waded into the job of pick-ing up the tag ends, he ran into coninual frustration and constant bicker

Rebuilding Job

Those left in the party insisted on tearing the remains apart. Ma Fleming, from all reports, has managed to soathe the warring factions to the point where the Tories can now start a major rebuilding job. His test comes this week, the appropriate Tory meeting at Harat a provincial Tory meeting at Har-rison Hot Springs, where the remaining dissidents will be told to get on with

With that problem settled, the Tories can start looking about for a leader. They have a year or two in which to make the choice, and no one (apart from the band of trouble-makers) is in any

On the other hand, the stridency of his protests against reportorial "inaccuracy" is a pretty good guide for newsmen, and others in assessing the seriousness Mr. Diefenbaker attaches to whatever situation he may be

On that basis, the PM was greatly perturbed by news stories from Ghana last week that Finance Minister Fleming had told a Commonwealth conference that Britain had to choose between joining the European Common Market and continuing to lead the Commonwealth. Compounding his perturbation was the comment of Trade Minister Hees at Accra—that the Commonwealth could scarcely survive market, membership

Despite a multiplicity of news stories using extensive and identical direct quota-tions from the Fleming and Hees speeches, the PM pooh-poohed the reports. The one he saw was "a news report and I am sure it does not represent what was said." George McIlraith (Lib., Ottawa West) read him a long quotation attributed to Hees. A "hypo-" thetical quotation," Diefenbaker replied.

Over the years the Conservative Party has fostered a public image as the great pro-Commonwealth party. The image has been an election asset in sections where British sentiment is strong-in Ontario, in the Marines, in parts of the west. _____ This presented no difficulties when pro Commonwealth was synonymous with pro-British. Now the two terms can mean quite different attitudes. They did in the Suez crisis in 1956. The Liberal government was confronted with intelligence that India would quit the Commonwealth if Britain did not withdraw its forces from the Suez Canal. Other Asian members might have followed India.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and Foreign Minister Pearson were instrumental in per-suading Sir Anthony Eden to bow to the United Nations' condemnation and abandon the venture. The Liberal government thus probably staved off disintegration of the Commonwealth, but the Conservative opposition in Parliament called the government's action a "stab in the back" for Britain.

Now the wheel has fully turned. The British are off on another adventure, this time economic rather than military, but just as disturbing to other members of the Commonwealth. And it is a Conservative govern ment at Ottawa that has administered the stab in the back.

In considering the possible effect on the Tories' political fortunes of the Fleming and Hees speeches—or, more accurately, public disclosure or what the two ministers said in the supposed privacy of closed conference meetings—it is little wonder that the PM is perturbed.

The stand taken by the two ministers was pro-Commonwealth. It was in Canada's interest. But it also put Canada in the fore in marshaling the rest of the Common-wealth—the Indians, the Pakistanis, the Australians, the Ghanians and all the rest of them—in a solid phislanx opposing action that London contends is vital to the Mother

There undoubtedly is a biological reason for the oyster's unstable nature but I like the explanation quoted by the Geographic from a poem by Byron.

Jacques Ready To Make It Tough on Rivals

Cesare Maniago appears ready to give it a good try, veteran Charlie Hodge and rookle Ed Johnston are waiting in the wings but, mask or no mask, Jacques Plante promises to be tough to push out of the Montreal nets in the coming National Hockey League

Plante, the tall man who finally rebelled at stopping pucks with his whiskers and became the first goaltender to wear a face mask in big-time hockey, didn't have one of his best seasons last winter

In fact, wide-ranging Jacques played only 40 regular-season games with the Habs, bowing out for 30 games in favor of the capable little Hodge.

A troublesome knee was one cause of Plante's miseries but more than a few people suggested that the colorful goalie was being hampered by the mask. And it is no secret that the Montreal brass has been trying to get him to give it another try without the face-piece.

However, coach Toe Blake doesn't actually expect Plante to go bare-faced and appears more concerned about the con-

Must Play Well With Mask to Stay "The way Plante feels about the mask," says Toe, "I doubt if he could ever play without it. But if he can't play well with it, it could well cost him his job."

Plante, a five-time Vezina Trophy winner, left no doubt.

Monday that he intends to have steady employment in Montreal this winter. With Blake starting scrimmage sessions in the club's first real workout, Plante turned in a sparkling job.

Showing no signs of knee miseries, Jacques came up with 24 saves as his red team outscored the white squad, 3-1.

Maniago, who started in the Western Hockey League last season and ended up playing 12 games for Toronto, including five playoff tussles, wasn't giving anything away. Cesare was also sharp as a new skate and was beaten only on close in shots while stopping 23.

Scoring for the Reds were Billy Carter, with two goals, and Bob Ellett. Denver University product Bill Masterton.

tallied for the Whites. All the scorers in the morning session are rookies who were showing the benefit of a week of skating with Mont-real's Hull-Ottawa farm team before coming to Victoria.

Heavy Checking Amazed Writers

Lining up in front of Plante were defencemen Tom Johnson, Jean-Guy Talbot, Jean-Claude Tremblay and Jerry Harper and forwards Jean Beliveau, Bernie Geoffrion and Gilles Tremblay: Ralph Backstrom, Don Marshall and Bob Rousseau: Carter, Ellett and John Annable. Wearing white sweaters were defencemen Lou Fonti-is your work as vital as this?

Dental diseases affect more than 98 per cent of Canadians - and British Columbia has less than half the number of qualified dentists required. That's why your dentist is one of the most vitally im-portant professional men in the community.

A doctor's degree in dentistry is not earned easily. Dentists must undertake at least six years of intensive specialized training at university. And perhaps more important, they must be prepared to undertake a life that will demand much from them both physically and mentally.

B.C.'s dentists have a serious health problem to solve. Are you willing to help them? If so, write for our pamphlet, Dentistry As A Career. No other profession will offer you greater opportunities to serve your fellow men — and none is quite so vital to your community now.

homeowners who let weeds flourish in their yards has paid off this year, city parks committee was told Monday.

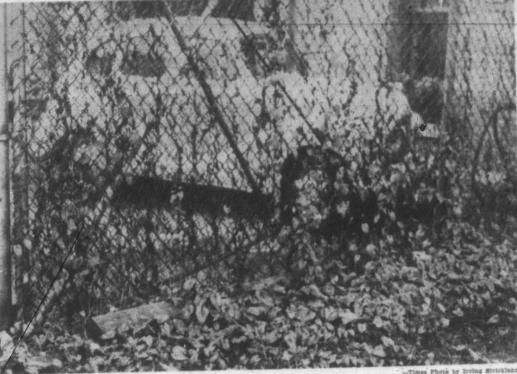

Parks administrator W. H. Warren also served notice will get tougher with offenders next year.

The department, on receipt of complaints from neighbors, asks homeowners to cut their eeds before seeds spread. FORMAL NOTICE

This year, for the first time the department sent formal notices to 72 who did-not accede to the first requests.

In 29 cases, where notices were disregarded, parks crews moved in and cut the weeds, billing the homgowners. Under the law, if the bills are uspaid by year's end, they are added to the property tax.

Mr. Warren said next y the department will require after a cutting operation

AND THERE Total Loss With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Is England deteriorating?

Is England deteriorating?

It pains me to raise this question, but reports of New Canadians who have revisited their native land in recent months are somewhat disquieting.

They tell me that the people—in spite of full employment and the highest standard of living in their history—are rude, snarly, disgruntled and discontented. And this, they say, is particularly noticeable in the stores.

"They treat you like dirt," said a young woman who had flown back to London after nine years in Victoria. "You would think you were insulting them by asking them to serve you."

In despair I turned to Mrs. Esther Moore of 1843 Crescent—a motherly, common sense, working type—for an opin-ion. Mrs. Moore has just spent three months in her native Tottenham (home of the Tottenham Hotspurs) after 12 years in Victoria.

years in Victoria.

"I don't think they are any ruder in the stores there than they are in Victoria," she said. "But I did feel they should be a whole lot happier with what they've got.

"Why, there are jobs galore! The adverts in the store windows and the newspapers are full of them—and hearly everybody owns a car."

everybody owns a car.
"Young girls are earning 10 pounds a week—fantastic!
But what I think depresses them is the world situation and the overcrowding—all those little houses huddled together!

R. P. Robinson of Esquimalt.

"It is not interested in anything moral or spiritual. The letters to the Times reveal this—they are always concerned with little, petty parochial problems that would be a laughingstock in any city the other side of the Rockies. Life is real there

Bask in Exotic Perfumes At Bargain-Counter Prices By PENNY SAVER

Have you ever wished that you could have at your beck and call all the perfumed magic of such top-line perfumiers as Schiaparelli, Angelique, Charbert and Lentheric? Dream no more—simply make a trip to the store I was in this week where all their scented delights can be yours for the modest sum of $1.50. In a smart oblong black and gold container that fastens with a clear plastic lid, there's an assortment of plastene 'nips', each containing a perfume that a queen might envy. When perfume is finished, dainty container would easily double as a picture frame for the coffee or dressing table.

Next time you have the girls in for a game of bridge, you're bound to cause comment if you have some of the smart match caddles that sell at $1.50. Square caddles come in either pink or blue plastic, elegantly decorated with gilded filigree work. Tiny boxes of matches fit in each side as neatly as parts of a Chinese puzzle. If you're looking for a small gift for a special friend or neighbor, this little item is one that would be well worth your while to investigate.

Another gift that any woman would love to receive is one of the artistic flower or candy dishes that have just arrived from Italy. Some are decorated with flowers or butterflies while others are bright with modern, abstract themes. All have been decorated by hand.

To add to their charm, many of them have handles of reen felt that are topped with colorful nosegays of felt vers and leaves.

Others have raffia basket handles, braided with colorful plastic. All are a real 'snap' at selling price of $2.50.

Looking for a new perfume or a gift for a friend? Ask Penny's advice at EV 2-3131.

dummy's king held the trick. South returned a trump and played a low heart on East's 10 spot. This is a fine example of the obligatory finesse.

He had nothing to gain by playing the queen. When he played low, West had to win with the ace. Later on, South lost a club and South lost a club and a diamond, but made his game.

At the other table North chose to respond one spade. South raised to three and North continued to four East opened the king of clubs and North was in dummy with the ace. North played a couple of rounds of trumps, stopping in his hand and then led a heart toward South's queen. East played the 10 and this declarer had to lose two heart tricks and go down one.

While team of four competition is the most skilful form of bridge this hand clearly shows that there is a tremendous luck factor. Each declarer reached a ightly ambitious game contract. One made a lucky decision in hearts; the other an unlucky one

What Does a Chinchilla Eat?

The most beautiful and the coated aristocrat and he is The most beautiful and the most expensive fur coat in the world is worn by a gentle little bunny-like creature called the chinchilla. A single strand of his silken fur is finer than a spiderweb and too thin for the human eye to see. His entire coat is so densely packed with these fairy airy strands that fleas densely packed with these fairy airy strands that fleas and other parasites cannot reach his skin. The fur is slaty blue at the roots, fading to silvery grey at the tips. It is so, soft, so lovely and so rare that some ladies have paid as much as $100,000 for a coat made from his pelts. The little charmer is a rodent distantly related to, of all unlikely animals, the prickly porcupine. His native home is on the rocky slopes of the snowcapped Andes of Peru. ## Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this interpensive substance right in the privacy of their own heale without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction-or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months?

In fact, results were so thorough

The trustees formally begged they're too hard on the floors Buildings and grounds chairman Richard Reeve said his committee is "very concerned about the damage being done to the linoleum and composi-tion tile floors by the current fashion in ladies' heels.

He pointed out the teachers were exerting about "a ton of pressure per square inch" through the heels. Mr. Reeve also said he noticed that the women teachers frequently took off their shoes when relaxing in staff rooms.

"I think we are within our rights in bringing to the teachers' attention our concern for their health and our floors,"

The board approved the expression of concern but did not go as far as Cowichan school board which recently put an outright ban on the stiletto heels in schools.

mier Bennett said today an agreement was signed this summer under which the B.C. Power Corporation could call on the services of senior officials of the B.C. Electric Company in the event of the latter's expropriation.

The agreement provided for "large financial benefit" to the officials, he added.

Mr. Bennett also told a press conference that the sum of $820,808 was transferred by BCE to a trust fund under a companion agreement the day before the company was ex-propriated by the provincial government.

HASTE QUESTIONED

Details of the agreement were learned late last week after an investigation by the provincial comptroller-general, the premier said.

Mr. Bennett said certain of-ficers of BCE have left the company pursuant to the agreement and "others may yet be called upon to do so... the agreement appears to leave in doubt the situation of certain BCE officers who still remain in the employ of the company."

He said he learned "to my considerable astonishment" that the $802,808 had been transferred to the Montreal Trust Company as trustee,

(Times News Services)

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia—An official inquiry opened in private here to-day into the fateful plane crash that killed Dag Hammarskjold while two more bodies were discovered in the wreckage.

The investigation got under way amid widely-conflicting speculation about the cause of the crash—an aerial attack or sabotage were seen as possible causes-but Rhodesian author ties officially discounted any suggestion that the aircraft was shot down.

With the discovery of two more bodies, the death toll in the tragic accident rose to 15. Canadian secretary was led in the crash of the DC-6B less than eight miles from here.
Only one person, Sgt. Harold

Build your bank balance...Build your peace of mind

Unexpected expenses do happen. Things like dentist bills, doctor bills, car repairs and dozens of others. Often these expenses must be met immediately. Without an adequate bank balance...well, many a good man feels a small flush of panic. You can avoid this. Make sure you always have at least two months' salary in the bank. Deposit regularly. Watch the balance build. Enjoy that new feeling of security... the peace of mind that comes with money in the bank. Money in the bank has other advantages too. You pay bills easily, and on time. You capitalize on special discounts. You avoid charge account service fees. You take advantage of special sales. You establish credit for intelligent borrowing. But these are extra benefits. More than anything else, money in the bank protects you from the unexpected. Build your bank balance and build your peace of mind. Start building next payday. Over 1260 branches to serve you.

GET TOUGH

A get-tough policy with meowners who let weeds flourish in their yards has paid off this year, city parks ommittee was told Monday.

Parks administrator W. H. Warren also served notice he will get tougher with offenders next year.

The department, on receipt of complaints from neighbors, asks homeowners to cut their weeds before seeds spread, FORMAL NOTICE

This year, for the first time, the department sent formal notices to 72 who did not accede to the first requests.

In 29 cases, where notices were disregarded, parks crews moved in and cut the weeds, billing the homeowners. Under the law, if the bills are unpaid by year's end, they are added to the property tax.

Mr. Warren said next year department will require with weed killer to cut their weeds during the past summer and in 29 cases city crews moved onto their property and did the job themselves, billing homeowners who will have to ante up or see the sum added to their taxes.

Is England deteriorating?

Is England deteriorating?

It pains me to raise this question, but reports of New Canadians who have revisited their native land in recent months are somewhat disquieting.

They tell me that the people—in spite of full employ, ment and the highest standard of living in their history—are rude, sparly, disgruntled and discontented. And this, the projection of the stores.

they say, is particularly noticeable in the stores.

"They treat you like dirt," said a young woman who had flown back to London after nine years in Victoria. "You would think you were insulting them by asking them to

In despair I turned to Mrs. Esther Moore of 1843 Crescent—a motherly, common sense, working type—for an opin-ion. Mrs. Moore has just spent three months in her native Tottenham (home of the Tottenham Hotspurs) after 12 years in Victoria.

"I don't think they are any ruder in the stores there than they are in Victoria," she said. "But I did feel they should be a whole lot happier with what they've got.

everybody owns a car.

"Young girls are earning 10 pounds a week—fantastic!
But what I think depresses them is the world situation and the overcrowding-all those little houses huddled together! * * * *

"Victoria is like a beautiful woman without a soul," says

"It is not interested in anything moral or spiritual. The letters to the Times reveal this—they are always concerned with little, petty parochial problems that would be a laughingstock in any city the other side of the Rockies. Life is real there
